PROFILE

I am an ICT student who is motivated and creative. I enjoy web design and database work. I like solving problems and learning new technologies in the IT field. My goal is to build modern, user-friendly websites and improve my technical and design skills to become a professional web developer.

WORK EXPERIENCE

During my studies in ICT, I have gained experience in web design, database management, and using HTML, CSS, and Bootstrap to create responsive websites. I have worked on university projects that involved building databases and designing front end pages for real case studies like SnapEats. I also learned how to test and debug websites to make sure they work on different devices. These experiences helped me improve my teamwork, problem-solving, and communication skills while working on practical IT tasks.

EDUCATION
